In recent times members of Blue Mountains UFO Research Club and National Underground Space Base Investigation Network have carried out Skywatches at Hassans Walls outside Lithgow, which provides a spectacular view to the west and south beyond the Kanimbla and Megalong Valleys, as well as to the east in the direction of the Sydney region.

In recent months Heather, myself and Phil Whittaker have seen some spectacular UFO activity from this lookout, and Phil has, together with Graham Merrick seen objects over Lithgow. It is a very active region at times for Unidentified Flying objects activity.

Not every Skywatch is successful though, and our Friday 29th December 2017 Hassans Walls visit, which began at 8pm, was called off at 9.30pm due to incoming clouds as the weather turned overcast.

We were back again – the Gilroys and our dog Andy, and Phil Whittaker, on Sunday 7th January 2018, arriving at 9.56pm but although we were there for quite some time the sky offered no strange lights or other objects.

Then, on Friday 12th January 2018 Heather and I, together with Andy, and new friend and Ufologist Cameron Hickey, visiting us from Victoria, we returned to Hassans Walls at 9.54pm. Once again there was no UFO activity, although we were treated to a spectacular thunder and lightning display that covered the southern skies over the Burratorang-Wollondilly valleys, and which lasted quite some time.

That's the luck of Skywatching. Some nights there may be absolutely nothing 'up there', and on other nights you can be kept busy writing down sightings notes of one mystery craft after another!

This has happened elsewhere on the Blue Mountains, such as at Narrow Neck Plateau, and at sites on Kings Tableland, such as McMahons Lookout at the far end of this lengthy plateau. The Kings Tableland sites overlook the Burratorang and Jamieson Valleys, where just about every night [the later the better] one can spot strange lights appearing in certain gullies where there are undoubted camouflaged entrances for space craft to and from the vast American/Australian Underground Space Base. The Burratorang complex [believed to be 100 levels deep] has expanded considerably since its post-World War Two beginnings, for its tunnel systems now link with other underground complexes in the ACT, Central Western New South Wales, undersea bases on our eastern New South Wales coast, and in the Wollemi Wilderness of the north side of the Blue Mountains to the New England region.

Without going into great detail, this mighty enterprise is operated by thousands of personnel. Secret space travel activity has been going on from the Burratorang and other sectors for quite some time now, about which our defence agencies 'know nothing' and remain silent. Repeated sightings claims of 'saucer' – type craft, which are very common across the Blue Mountains, are either ignored, or brushed off as 'migrating ducks', new experimental weather balloons, human imagination etc.

Those seeking more detailed information are directed to the Gilroys' book "Blue Mountains Triangle – Secret Underground Australian/American Bases and the ET Connection" [URU Publications 2006].

In past Blue Mountains UFO Club Skywatching visits to McMahons Lookout at the far end of Kings Tableland there have been sightings of strange craft, either emerging from a particular gully, or else descending into it, and I have a collection of hundreds of such sightings going back years from here. It can be a very spooky place at night, although one feels more comfortable in numbers!

The scene of the 1975 UFO daylight crash, which was quickly covered up by ASIO and the CIA at the time, has since been followed by a crash out in the Kanangra depths, and strange craft have been reported to have crashed in the Linden and Mt Wilson areas during the 1950s.

The Kanangra Boyd region can be a mysterious place for UFO activity at times, and a space base opening for spacecraft is believed to have been constructed in an inaccessible ‘no-man’s land’ forest region east of the Kanangra Walls. Campers have reported seeing glowing ‘saucer’ craft late at night emerging from the area where the opening is located. The craft have either flown up into the sky, or else headed off to the south, disappearing over the ranges.

A large circular ‘saucer nest’, made by a spacecraft some years ago, that was seen late at night to descend after a flight from the south, and land in scrub, crushing surrounding bush with its weight, continues to attract attention, even though National Park rangers will tell you that the ‘nest’ was created by a large flock of parrots! Since when has an area of over 100 metres circumference of scrub ever been flattened in a circular manner by a flock of parrots? The area was cleared of all debris soon afterwards by National Park workmen.

The story [found in “Blue Mountains Triangle”] goes that the craft had first descended onto Mt Cloudmaker where it was seen by a party of camping Rover Scouts. It soon took off again to land at the Kanangra site, where even today the landing place remains bare of shrubbery].

US military personnel have been seen by people to land by Australian army helicopters in the ‘inaccessible zone, and under much secrecy they have been seen to patrol the area. There are certain isolated old fire trails on the plateau and one in particular where campers or day hikers have chanced to see a small unit or two at times moving along the trail. It seems obvious that the underground base expansion in this region, which has been under way for some years now, is guarded by patrolling American troops, although special Australian forces are also involved, as our book describes.

In June 2017 together with Phil Whittaker, I explored a remote former timber-cutters trail [abandoned when the region became a National Park]. It is an eerie forest-covered trail, which over the years bushwalkers who have visited it, have reported finding American confectionary wrappers, even an old discarded wooden crate bearing “US Military” on it. The road is shut to traffic by a locked gate, so that obviously it is only accessed by a very long walk. Phil and I came across tyre marks embedded in dried mud at least a couple of weeks old, so somebody is getting in there.

A few years ago a woman member of our UFO club and I stumbled upon a camouflaged fourth-wheel drive trail, which at a particular point began close to the Kanangra Walls Road, to continue up and over steep hills, only to disappear down into a gully where it just vanished!

I led Phil along this mysterious trail. One can get the feeling of being watched, and hereabouts that is quite likely, with secret camera surveillance equipment set up by Underground Base personnel!

Several years ago two young day hikers entered the trail to soon afterwards discover they were being followed by a drone, which did so for some distance until they gave up and returned whence they had come. In April 2011 there were three occasions in daylight when a small ‘saucer-type’ craft was seen by two campers to ‘float’ above the tree canopy, following the road, or perhaps more likely them! When the young men decided to leave the area and return the way they had come, the craft, large enough for two passengers, followed their retreat for some minutes before silently moving away over the trees in an easterly direction.

The search made by myself and Phil Whittaker penetrated some distance into the forestland, but we had to abandon our investigation, as we could see bad weather moving in, and we made our way back to Heather, waiting at the car at the entrance of the fire trail before the rain began.

Our Skywatches over past years pin-pointed two large spacecraft openings in the Burratorang 'Underland', which within the last few years has grown to at least six in that area [three in each of two parallel adjoining gullies]. These entrances are placed on 'time window' protection whenever any outside unauthorised earth-based military craft, or even ground searchers are caught on radar penetrating these locations. The sites are placed on 'time warps' perhaps thousands of years in the past, so that the intruders are unable to discover these entrances.

So it is with the extensions of this mighty Blue Mountains complex in the Wollemi, Jamieson and Wollondilly Valleys further south. The entrances to these extensions of the great Burratorang Base are known to the Gilroys, but we prefer to keep this our secret.

As frequently mentioned, the Base, and all the others across Australia are a joint American-Australian military backed centre for the development of a highly advanced, undoubted ET assisted, space travel super-science, which has for a long time now, been secretly putting Earth astronauts on planets that include Mars, colonising other Earth-like habitable worlds in space in much faster space flight time than officially theorised for the surface public.

Our regular Skywatches at underground base sites and the results, and the research of Blue Mountains UFO Research Club and National Australian Underground Space Base Investigation Network continues to gather 'intelligence' on the secret activities going on 'down there'. Among these activities is the gradual expansion of the massive 'Underworld' city of Burratorang for its massive population.

Authorities continue to try and discourage people from investigating the sites concerned, with often childish explanations of weather balloons, flocks of birds, imagination etc, yet they remain silent about ET spacecraft seen hovering over the Burratorang and other valleys hereabouts on the Blue Mountains known for space craft landings and take-offs. SOMETHING is going on 'down there'. We know what it is. It is time for our military & government agencies to COME CLEAN!

On Sunday 23rd April 1972 about 10am as dozens of tourists stood on the clifftop lookouts on the eastern cliffs overlooking the valley between them and Kanangra Walls, a large, silver-glowing 'saucer-type' craft was spotted by people zooming up over the mountains at the southern end of the valley. As the people watched, the craft rose high into the air to hover above the valley, where it remained motionless for half an hour. It then rose high into the sky to vanish from sight. Over the next week the 'saucer' made several more visits over Kanangra Walls and the surrounding region, being spotted by campers, farmers on properties fringing the National Park, and others. It is believed that people who took photos rushed them off to the newspapers, but these prints were never published, nor did the donors get them back! Perhaps photos survive of the shining craft which the owners wisely did not let out of their hands. Artwork by Rex Gilroy 2018.

US AIR FORCE COLONEL SAYS TWO AIRMEN INVOLVED IN BRITISH UFO CASE ‘MAY HAVE BEEN ABDUCTED’

The Sun, News Corp Australia Network
January 16, 2018 6:56am

A RETIRED US air force colonel says two airmen involved in Britain’s most infamous UFO case may have been abducted by aliens in secret video footage.

Staff Sgt Jim Penniston and Airman John Burroughs claim to have witnessed a small triangular craft which landed in Rendlesham Forest, Suffolk — in what has been dubbed the UK’s Roswell incident. Sgt Penniston apparently got so close, he even managed to touch the craft, describing it as “smooth to the touch” and covered with strange symbols similar to ancient Egyptian hieroglyphs — before it took off.

Now in secret video footage obtained exclusively by Sun Online, the deputy commander of the base at the time, Charles Halt, can be heard stating that Burroughs “may have been abducted” and that the men were “unaccounted for” for hours.

It is believed it is the first time Halt has ever made the bombshell claims — and they did not appear on his official memo of the incident which was sent to the Ministry of Defense.

The mysterious Rendlesham incident took place in December 1980 — at the height of the Cold War — in woods just outside the twin NATO air bases of RAF Woodbridge and RAF Bentwaters.

Penniston and Burroughs headed into the woods to investigate some strange flashing lights, which is where they saw the UFO.

Two nights later, the UFO returned, and Halt led a team of military experts into the woods in a bid to “debunk” the claims.

James Penniston says he got so close he even managed to touch the craft, describing it as “smooth to the touch” and covered with strange symbols. Picture: Youtube

However, the military team were shocked when a beam of light from the UFO hit the ground just a few feet away.

Halt, who made an 18-minute audio recording of the incident, went on to write a memo detailing what happened which he sent to the MoD but defence chiefs said the incident was of “no defence significance.”

For years it has been rumoured Penniston and Burroughs, who were security policemen, may have been snatched by the UFO as they were out of radio communication with their Central Security Control (CSC) for several hours — but no one officially involved in the incident has ever publicly stated it.

John Burroughs and his colleague Mr Penniston were out of radio communication with their Central Security Control (CSC) for several hours. Picture: Youtube

Now former British police detective Gary Heseltine has released a video clip from 2010 — when he toured the forest with Halt for a documentary that was never made.

The video clip was recorded by Heseltine’s wife during a break in filming and shows Heseltine walking with Halt in the forest in an effort to retrace his steps during the third night of UFO activity during the 1980 incident.

In the video, Halt says: “He [Burroughs] may have been abducted who knows ... You know there is LOST TIME, we know that? They were not on the radio ... You’ve got men out in the forest that you can’t unaccounted for hours.”

Heseltine, 57, of Scholes, West Yorkshire, told Sun Online: “My wife Lynn took quite a few video clips as we walking around the forest.

“It was only recently while watching them again that I picked up on the admission by Halt that Penniston and Burroughs had been missing off air ‘for several hours’.

“I did some research and realised that this admission had never been made public by Halt and so for the benefit of taking the case forward I have decided to release the clip.”

Heseltine, who edits the UFO Truth website, added: “As someone who is just trying to piece together the events in Rendlesham Forest, I think it is in the public interest that they have a right to know such information and hence why I have released the clip.”

The incident happened in Rendlesham Forest in December 1980. Picture: Supplied

Former UFO investigator at the MoD Nick Pope said the revelation was “hugely significant”.

“This is a bombshell statement, coming from someone who was Deputy Base Commander of one of the most sensitive military bases in the NATO alliance, at the height of the Cold War.

“It’s one thing to see a UFO, as Halt and many of the men under his command did, but it’s quite another to suggest one of your men might have been abducted by aliens.

“A few weeks ago it would have sounded crazy for a senior American military officer to believe such things, but following the revelations about the Pentagon’s secret UFO project, maybe it’s not so strange after all.

“That said, it’s not entirely clear to me whether Halt is being deadly serious, whether he’s speculating, or if he’s simply making a tongue in cheek comment.”

Heseltine, who is currently making a documentary called Capel Green about the Rendlesham Forest incident, and Halt ended their collaboration with him in 2014.

However it is not the first time Heseltine has released information about something Halt admitted as they walked through the forest together.

Back in May 2016, Heseltine, who clocked up almost 24 years in the British Transport Police before retiring, claims Halt told him the Suffolk air base had the largest arsenal of nuclear weapons in Europe.

Halt later denied making the comment, saying: “Those are his conclusions.”

When approached by Sun Online about the video clip, Halt denied making the comments about abduction but acknowledged that “something happened” to the two airmen on the first night of the incident and there was missing time.

He told Sun Online: “I never said anyone was abducted.

“Something happened to the first responders the first night (Dec. 25/26) but what it was even they don’t know. We do know there was unaccounted for time.”

SENATOR HARRY REID PUSHED PENTAGON UFO PROGRAM

Senator Harry Reid was behind the recently-revealed Pentagon UFO research program, retired Nevada senator Harry Reid spoke with George Knapp about the story that has spawned headlines around the world.

In his first televised interview on the topic, which was exclusively provided to KLAS, the former Senate Majority Leader was remarkably forthcoming about the program and how it developed.

Asked how he feels about the Advanced Aviation Threat Identification Program being revealed to the public, Reid responded, "I'm very glad, because now we have scientific evidence."

To that end, the retired Senator indicated to Knapp that, as opposed to how the program's findings have been portrayed by some media outlets, the results of the study were impressive.

Reid also provided some clarification on how space entrepreneur Robert Bigelow was chosen to helm the AATIP.

He stressed that "we wanted to make sure people couldn't complain about it that it was some sweetheart deal" and explained that the job was "put out to bid."

Bigelow, in turn, was awarded the contract because he "gave the best cost" and was "willing to build the infrastructure and build everything on his own."

According to Knapp's report, the program boasted a team of 46 scientists and employed 'rapid response teams' to investigate UFO cases which came in to the group.

As to why the program ultimately shut down, Reid refuted reports that he had a hand in ending the AATIP, saying "I wish it were still going."

OFFICIAL WHO RAN GOVT'S SECRET UFO UNIT SPEAKS OUT

David Watkinson writes as promised, here's a link to the navy pilot's account on Fox:https://www.youtube.com/watch?time_continue=3&v=cboOWFIsWLY

On Wednesday, December 20, 2017, David Mathes wrote:

IMHO he offered a fresh face for an almost 70 year old narrative of seven talking points. IMHO no breakthrough in release of information and “no compelling evidence.” Just a broadcast reminder of hope for a slow news day during the Christmas season.

Note that the Obama administration opened the office and the Trump administration closed the office. Some folks would say both have been briefed but neither has high enough access to the files and current work. Your opinions will vary.

So far, only visual sighting evidence has been brought to our attention from him; from a scientific view, there is no physical evidence that he presented. So, don't get too exuberant since this particular USG office is closed. It's not the start of disclosure, just a reminder and reinforcement that something is out there.

The talking points of Mr. Elizondo are consistent with unidentified aerial phenomena (UAP) aka UFO sightings. So far, he has not elaborated beyond things in the air. No USO. Nothing about platforms and vehicles in space. Nothing exotic like Krasnikov tubes or even warp drive. and nothing that goes beyond Paul Hill's book Unconventional Flying Objects. So let's take a look at the seven claims Luis Elizondo puts forth about what his office investigated. His words are in quotes.

1. The lack of “any obvious flight control surfaces” (flaps, ailerons, tail, rudder, etc) Electric, magnetic, gravitational (sic) and inertia forces must all be controlled for flight. These craft do it better than our rotating machinery and apparently have internally integrated the flight control for attitude and velocity/acceleration along a path. Field control externally is part of the answer. Internally, there may be moving energy states involving oscillating or circulation of mass states including solid, liquid, gas and plasma.

2. The lack of “any obvious forms of propulsion” (no prop or jet)
Current known advanced efforts in leading propulsion research (basic R&D, not product R&D)

Beam-powered propulsion –

Power on ground or platform; momentum change system on-board

RF resonant cavity thruster

Mach Effect Thruster

3. “Extreme Maneuverability” – Inertia is the issue, especially angular momentum
The key question is how angular momentum is conserved. Keep in mind that multiple sources of thrust may be available and well coordinated. Also, relativistic level analysis (General relativity, not special

Supermaneuverability

Energy–maneuverability theory

Angular momentum

Relativistic angular momentum

4. “Hypersonic velocity”

Mach 5 or higher

In atmosphere, velocities up to Mach 10 before ionization begins. By Mach 12 in the atmosphere, almost all known materials and coatings ionize and disperse.

5. “Positive lift” (hover and lift)

Note choice of “lift”. It’s not aerodynamic lift but vertical velocities of a craft from a hover position is what he is speaking of.

6. “Not known (by him) in US inventory” (that he is aware of)

7. “Not known (by him) in foreign inventory” (that he is aware of)

Backgrounder

Common technologies used to correlate and confirm visual sightings

Beyond radio, there were at least two technologies instrumental in his presentation: radar and electro-optics. Here is a brief summary.

Bob Tarantino ~1929 to 1935

Radar dates back to the 1929 for anti-aircraft fire and even further into the 19th century for noticing interference above noise.

Radar developed rapidly after the invention of Cavity magnetron in the late 1930s.

This device was used for radar then and emDrives now.

For velocities above Mach 3, at two ground air traffic radars are required to simply identify faster moving anything. Over-the-horizon radars have at least 10x the distance capability of the ~250 mile range of ATC radars. So hypervelocity vehicles traveling Mach 5 or higher are an issue. In the atmosphere, the upper limit is above Mach 10 when everything unprotected ionizes. Mach 10 is about 7600 mph. Most sightings from ground are far less but greater than Mach 4 which is the limit of jet craft so far. Above Mach 5, one has to go to scramjet and rocket technologies or borrow something seen leaving the atmosphere.

Night vision device – 1929

Electro-optics refers to night vision. Germans and US in WW2 advanced sniperscope (Generation 0). US advances in 1950s and 60s.

AN/PVS-1 Starlight scope was in Viet Nam late 1966 amplified ambient light from moon typically (Generation 1).

The most important thing is that in the optical spectrum many of these observers cannot see aerial objects due to cloaking or fast movement. However, most craft have an infrared signature which is more difficult to mask or hide.

The Navy pilot provides an interesting view as if the vehicle were in a cloud chamber. The visual sighting suggests a field driven craft. Field drives us electromagnetic fields as well as gravitational AND inertia fields to control the craft especially in space but quite useful in earth’s atmosphere with no obvious control surfaces.

For attitude and path control of a craft without observable control surfaces for some time there has been in the works at leading aerospace manufacturers. The physics of ions (electrohydrodynamics) can be used to control lift, thrust, drag and even work against gravity. Fully developed, commercial planes could have a no-moving-parts control surfaces within the next ten years.

In order to detect most vehicles or platforms, IR and starlight-type scopes are very useful. In all cases, a thorough scan across the EM spectrum from DC to beyond light is required. A 3D scan of the acoustic spectrum is also required since reflections and refractions can create ghost imaging and hide actual sources of sounds.

We are at a time in history where we may see US or foreign countries produce a vehicle with the propulsion system only on the inside of the craft and generating fields outside the craft for deflection of particles and fields resulting in silent travel.

At the same time one has to be very skeptical of any pronouncement and understand clearly what not only is being said, but what is left unsaid.

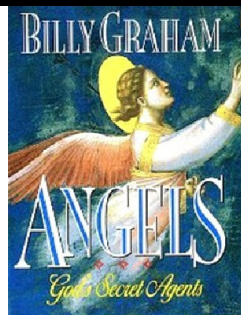

For some, the hope of ETs lies in camera/movie evidence. While fascinating, given the graphics, imaging and special effects along with vehicles and platforms such as RC helicopters and quadcopters, this may not be enough in many cases and simply a form of entertaining game of “what’s that?”

As a result of technologies that can simulate, spoof or prank the observer such as CGI and projector systems, the bar of “compelling evidence” needs to be raised.

“Not in our inventory....There is very compelling evidence that we are not alone, whatever that means.” Thanks to Luis Elizondo, recent Head of Pentagon UFO program. On Wednesday, December 20, 2017, Thanks to Bruce Cornet and Bob Tarantino

EVANGELIST BILLY GRAHAM ON ANGELS AND UFOs

Evangelist Billy Graham has had a ministry for 50 years to almost every US. President since Truman and was close to the Clinton's. In his bestselling book, “Angels God’s Secret Agents” Graham states, “Some reputable scientists deny and others assert that UFOs do appear to people from time to time. Some scientists have reached the place where they think they can prove that these are possibly visitors from outer space.

Some Christian writers have speculated that UFOs could very well be a part of God’s angelic host who preside over the physical affairs of universal creation. While we cannot assert such a view with certainty, many people are now seeking some type of supernatural explanation for these phenomena. Nothing can hide the fact, however, that these unexplained events are occurring with greater frequency. (Page 21)

We must be aware that angels keep in close and vital contact with all that is happening on the earth. “The chariots of God are twenty thousand, even thousands of angels.” (Psalm 68) “His chariots of conveyance, which he sends for his friends, as he did for Elijah ...his chariots of state, in the midst of which he shows his glory and power.” Psalm 91. “For he will give his angels charge over you to guard you in all your ways.”

Dead Sea The priest-scientist ENOCH, is a prediluvian patriarch, one of the most famous and seminal characters of the previous time cycle. Father of Methuselah and great grandfather of Noah, Enoch is credited in the Bible as architect of the original Zion, the legendary “City of Yahweh”, as well as inventor of the alphabet and calendar. Enoch is also history’s first astronaut, who “is taken aloft by the Lord” and shown “the secrets of earth and heaven”. He returns to earth with the “weights and measures” for all humankind.

In the controversial Dead Sea Scrolls, revealing the lost Books Of Enoch removed from the Bible by early religious leaders, Enoch describes a wondrous civilization in the past, who misused the keys of higher knowledge and were unable to save themselves from the last cataclysm. Both literally and figuratively they lost the “keys”, they lost all higher knowledge. Yet, Enoch, along with many traditions, even the Mayan legend of Quetzalcoatl, promises a return of this knowledge at “The end of time”, the end of the present time cycle. Biblical Revelations promise “all will be revealed” at the end of the present world.

Reverend Barry Downing in his book states

Of course, I wonder more than that. I wonder if what we now call the UFO reality, and what the Bible calls the angels of God, are not the same reality. If this is true, then we humans have a lot of thinking to do: thinking about God, about the nature and destiny of the human race, about the relation of the UFO reality to all that humanity has been, and will be. In fact, in a universe that scientists believe is well in excess of 15 billion years old, we have to wonder how biological life on earth “evolved,” if it evolved. Or has the development of life on earth as we know it been directed? Is the earth the laboratory of some kind of Higher Reality? This would mean that life on earth is not the result of “pure evolution,” as many scientists have argued from Darwin to the present. Nor does the biblical story of creation in Genesis tell us the whole story.

The Bible is one of the best historical and technological books ever written about UFOs and their occupants.

Two thousand years ago Angels play a part in announcing Christmas for the first time.

This time of year we celebrate the birth of Christ who was announced by angels, and his star was seen in the east. In the first chapter of the New Testament we’re told the Holy Ghost visited the Virgin Mary and that an Angel of the Lord visited Joseph to announce the conception of Christ and later his birth.

The Bible states, “That night some shepherds were in the fields outside the village, guarding their flocks of sheep. Suddenly an angel appeared among them, and the landscape shone bright with the glory of the Lord. They were badly frightened, but the angel reassured them.”

“Don’t be afraid! I bring you the most joyful news ever announced, and it is for everyone! The Savior—yes the Messiah, the Lord—has been born tonight in Bethlehem! How will you recognize him? You will find a baby wrapped in a blanket, lying in a manager! Suddenly the angel was joined by a vast host of others—armies of heaven-praising God: Glory to God in the highest heaven, they sang, “and peace on earth for all those pleasing him.” When this great army of angels had returned again to heaven, the shepherds said to each other. “Come on! Let’s go to Bethlehem! Let’s see this wonderful thing that has happened, which the Lord has told us about. (Luke 2) The armies of heaven may describe UFOs that are often seen in large numbers.

When Jesus is born the Magi or Wise Men from the East follow a star and are able to find the baby Jesus. Johannes Kepler discovered the math for the movement of the stars and planets and was unable to find the Star of Bethlehem followed by the Wiseman. Technically a star is very difficult to follow because stars appear to move as the world turns on its axis. It is more likely that the star was an unidentified light hovering high in the sky that according to scripture changed direction to bring the Wise Men to the birth place.

Kenneth Larson writes, “In the Bible, the actual scriptures state that the “Star of Bethlehem” appeared in the eastern sky and led the wise men westward to Jerusalem. While at Jerusalem, the star hovered overhead and then when the wise men appeared from the building the star made a sharp 90-degree turn and led the wise men four miles to the birth of Jesus Christ in the manger at Bethlehem.”

Most of the descriptions of Angels compares nicely with our available data of at least one group of the alien visitors. In Genesis, the first book of the Bible and Torah; Angels are described as having bodies with parts such as hands, feet, eyes, head, voices, mouths, hair, faces and other human body parts.

Apparently millions have believed and each year we celebrate the birth of Christ at Christmas that occurred some 2017 years ago. If we believe His message we are promised ever-lasting life. Of course, if the promise is untrue, we will all die. However, if it is true, I’ll meet you in Heaven! Merry Christmas

THE BIBLE AND UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECTS AT CHRISTMAS

At Christmas time it would be interesting to review some of the teachings of the Bible because I feel it is one of the most important books that describe UFOs, and their occupants who give us information on why they are here. The Bible states, “In the beginning god created the heaven and Earth and made man in his image,” that includes a mortal body and soul and spirit that is immortal. The term soul is used 754 times in the Bible and we’re told the soul is the invisible spiritual part of man, a living organism.

The Bible claims each person has a soul, a life force that continues after death. At the time we take our last breath the soul or spirit leaves the body and is taken to Heaven by Angels perhaps using UFOs.

My brother who was thought dead was taken to the hospital by ambulance and brought back to life in the emergency room. He claims to have observed his body from above and saw the ambulance ride and the Doctors working on him. Later he returned to his body to live again.

Many medical personnel claim to have seen the spirit leave the body at the time the physical body dies. My wife who was helping her brother walk at the time of his death, she felt his body become lighter as his spirit left, followed by his full weight.

The Bible claims that the angels are sent by the Father in Heaven who promises the greatest gift of all, 'eternal life.' We can speculate at this time of year that the religious stories of the past are related to the signs and wonders we see in our skies now. I've studied the Bible, the Torah, the Koran, the Book of Mormon and many other ancient writings that claim angels exist and are messengers of God bringing scriptures.

Into the Valley of Death

During the last two weeks I have been in the hospital with two operations to improve the arteries around my heart and I'm now on the road to rapid recovery. If there are some spelling errors please excuse since the procedures damaged my eye sight, but I'm scheduled for cataract surgery at the beginning of the year.

During my operation I was taken to the basement of Lourdes Hospital away from all other operating rooms. As I was wheeled into the operating room a black person six foot eight inches tall gave me a little water for my dry mouth. A giant of man dressed in medical clothes said to the surgical team, I'm sorry but we just lost Mary and I was next. I felt my arms and legs were tied down and I really couldn't move.

The Doctor stated I need an #9 scalpel and was given pain medication. I was very apprehensive as I entered a bright light and taken to an Egyptian like room where my soul was being weighed to determine if I should live or die. I was found probably not worth saving. A voice of an angel or guardian spoke on my behalf claiming I could still do great good on earth, save lives, with his web site, movies. Etc.

I stated much more needs to be learned about UFOs, and I can help stop the killing of thousands caused by illegal drugs. I traveled in space and time in a dream world and awoke in my Intensive Care Room. So I guess you are stuck with me for a while.

"Pilots and astronauts who have seen UFOs, often claim the UFO is the size of an aircraft carrier. There is no question in my mind that they exist. I don't know for certain what UFOs are, who is flying them, but something is flying in our skies. They could be a natural phenomenon not understood. Several times while in Air Force intelligence, I briefed UFOs to numerous general officers. I attempted to obtain documentation and films of UFOs from the Air Force. I was told the evidence was there with safes full of evidence, but I needed the signature of my four star commanding general to see it. I have a dozens of friends who also know they exist, and seen various types of evidence. I'm part of the Disclosure Project that includes over one hundred military and government personnel ready to testify to Congress about the phenomenon."

"It is not enough to just travel to Mars and survive; now we must develop a way in which we can sustainably live and love on Mars, it is essential that we call on a new generation of thinkers and innovators to make this a reality." Thanks to Space.com.
